HARRISBURG, April 28.—The Democratic State convention met in the operahouse to-day, all hope of a compromise between the contending Philadelphia or Wallace and Randall delegations being at an end. Matters were very lively all the morning in the notels and committee rooms. Great difficulty was experienced in gaining admission to the hall of the convention. The Randall people appeared to have thorough control of all the entrances to the hall, and many visitors received their tickets of admission before those of the delegates were issued. So strict were the doorkeepers it was almost impossible for the telegraph messengers to pass in and ont, and great difficulty was experienced in reaching the telegraph office. When Speaker Randall entered he was greeted with the most enthusiastic cheering. He appeared as a substitute. Senator Wallace was present as a delegate, HARRISBURG, April 28 .- The Democratic

as a delegate.

Some delay occurred in calling the convention to order, during which several confertwo factions. At one o'clock, Speaker Ran dall, with two of his friends, stepped into the corner where Wallace and his leader were, and a conference of a few minutes took place. The result was an agreement to appoint a mmittee to settle the points of difference. It was then understood that Monaghan, of West Chester, would be temporary chairman, while A. H. debate; R. M. Speer, of Huntingdon; Mutchler of Northernton, Dill of History ler, of Northampton; Dill, of Union; Stenger, of Franklin, Jenks, of Indiana and Gibson.

The committee was named amid much ap-plause. R. M. Speer and Richard Vaux fol-states the assurance that the Democratic party mean a complete and thorough peace and undying war to our opponents.

Mr. Wallace then thanked the convention for their kind greeting. It could scarcely be expected of him that in the origin of his party he would fail in the performance of his duty.

He yielded to the entire Democracy the control of place and power, and he would always trol of place and power, and he would always be found where the Democratic party placed him, whether is the front rank or in the lead.
He was for peace, harmony and victory.

He then quickly regained the platform, put the question himself, and the motion was carried by acclamation. It was quite a brilliant performance and got the convention out of the troublesome situation. The defeat of the regular resolutions leaves the delegates to vote according to their individual choice. In the first district there was a contest over a delegate at large, which was a contest over a delegate at large, which was carried into the convention, but it resulted in the choice of Fred E. Burr over Ex-Governor Richard D. Hubbard. Burr is editor of the Times of this city, and Parsons, another delegate at large, is editor of the Register of New Haven. The latter supports Ex Governor English, of this State, for the Presidency. The majority of the delegates chosen, it is understood, will
